DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Isao Kanno US Patent 5555857. (Hereafter referred to as Kanno)

Regarding Claim 1 Kanno discloses in fig. 1, col. 3 lines 34-35 in light col. 2 lines 4-5 a float switch 46 with a power source for sensing liquid level. This reads on "A fluid level detector and alarm apparatus for use in a liquid receiving open-top vessel, comprising: a housing being connectable to the vessel so as to be positioned within the vessel, the housing being adapted to receive a power source"

Kanno discloses in figs. 1, 3 and col. 4 lines 44-46 an audible alarm 108 in parallel LED 106. This reads on "a sound emitter positioned within the housing, the sound emitter being actuatable to emit a sound alarm; a circuit within the housing for interconnecting the sound emitter to the power source, the circuit having opposed ends emerging out of the housing"

Kanno discloses in col. 3 lines 35-37 an open contact switch with a float sliding up and down a rail. Kanno does not explicitly disclose buoyant forces sliding the float.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill at the time of the invention that use of float to sense fluid level necessarily involves buoyant forces.

Regarding Claim 2, Kanno discloses in fig. 3 and col. 4 lines 40-45 level switch 90 that energizes LED 106 and audible alarm 106 when closed.

Regarding Claim 3, Kanno discloses in fig. 3 and col. 4 lines 40-45 level switch 90 that energizes LED 106.

Regarding Claim 4, Kanno discloses in fig. 1 and col. 3 lines 54-57 light 62 which indicates sufficient power from the power source and is off when power is sufficiently low.

Regarding Claim 5, Kanno discloses in fig. 2 and col. 4 lines 20-25 level switch 86 and 90. Kanno does not disclose the nature of the contacts.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use proper contact for switch as determined by design.

Regarding Claim 6, Kanno discloses in col. 3 line 38 and lines 55-56 an open contact switch that utilizes a float that slides up and down a rail. Since the float slides up and down before it closes the switch to light the indicators in indicator housing 60. Thus the float is releasably connected to the housing.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kanno in view of Anthony Sayka et al U.S Patent 5743135. (Hereafter referred to as Sayka)

Regarding Claim 7, Kanno discloses all the limitation of claim 7 as applied claim 1 except a float with a tapered housing. Sayka discloses in fig. 1 and col. 3 lines 17-19 a tapered 126 to enclose float 124.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in at the time of the invention to tapered housing of Sayka into Kanno for the purpose of confining the float as taught by Sayka.
